Introduction

The Priestley Academy Trust (hereinafter referred to as “the Trust”) regards the lawful and correct processing of personal and sensitive data as an integral part of its purpose and vital for maintaining confidence between employees, clients and others whom we process data about, on behalf of and ourselves.

Policy Statement

This Data Protection Policy explains how the Trust will meet its legal obligations concerning confidentiality and data security standards. The requirements within the policy are primarily based upon the Data Protection Act 2018 (DPA) and General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR) (the Legislation) which cover data security and confidentiality of personal and sensitive personal data. (A list of important defined terms in the GDPR can be found on the back pages of this policy).

- The Trust will fully implement all aspects of the Legislation.
- The Trust will ensure all employees and others handling personal data are aware of their obligations and rights under the Legislation.
- The Trust will implement adequate and appropriate physical, technical and organisational measures to ensure the security of all data contained in or handled by those systems.

The main focus of this policy is to provide guidance about the protection, sharing and disclosure of employee and client data, but it is important to stress that maintaining confidentiality and adhering to data protection legislation applies to anyone handling personal data or sensitive (to be called "Special Category" in the GDPR) data on behalf of the Trust.

Legal framework

This policy has due regard to legislation, including, but not limited to, the following:

- The General Data Protection Regulation

- The Freedom of Information and Data Protection (Appropriate Limit and Fees) Regulations 2004
- The School Standards and Framework Act 1998
- The Data Protection Act 2018

This policy also has due regard to the following guidance:

- ICO (2018) ‘Guide to General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR)’
- DfE (2018) ‘Data protection: a toolkit for schools’

This policy also has due regard to The Trust's policies including, but not limited to, the following:

- Photography Policy
- Data Protection Policy
- Freedom of Information Policy
- CCTV Policy
- Child Protection and Safeguarding Policy
- Document Retention Policy

Registration with the Information Commissioner

GDPR requires data controllers to register with the Information Commissioner (ICO) the categories of personal data they hold, and what they do with it.

The Trust is registered with the ICO.

The Trust is a "data controller" when it decides how to use personal data. It is a "data processor" when it is directed by a third party as to how to use personal data. Further to the GDPR both data controllers and data processors have legal obligations to safeguard personal data and are both liable if there is a breach.

Definitions of Personal Data and Sensitive Personal Data

Personal data is any personally identifiable information, so this includes:

- Employee data
- Client data
- Any other personal data processed by the Trust

Examples of personal data which the Trust processes include:

- Names, addresses, emails, telephone numbers and other contact information
- Financial information
- National Insurance numbers and payroll data
- CCTV images and photographs, video and audio recordings

Certain types of data are identified as sensitive or "special category" and attract additional legal protection. Sensitive personal data is any data that could identify a person together with information about their:

- Racial or ethnic origin
- Political opinions
- Religious beliefs or other beliefs of a similar nature
- Membership of a trade union
- Physical or mental health or condition
- Sexual life
- Commission or alleged commission of any offence

- Information about any proceedings for any offence committed or alleged to have been committed or disposal of such proceedings or the sentence of a court in such proceedings

Data Protection Principles

We must all comply with the six Data Protection Principles that lie at the heart of the legislation. The Trust fully endorses and abides by the data protection principles. Specifically the six principles require that data is:

- Principle 1: processed lawfully, fairly and in a transparent manner in relation to individuals ('lawfulness, fairness and transparency')
- Principle 2: collected for specified, explicit and legitimate purposes and not further processed in a manner that is incompatible with those purposes, further processing for archiving purposes shall not be considered to be incompatible with the initial purposes ('purpose limitation')
- Principle 3: adequate, relevant and limited to what is necessary in relation to the purposes for which they are processed ('data minimisation')
- Principle 4: accurate and, where necessary, kept up-to-date; every reasonable step must be taken to ensure that personal data that are inaccurate, having regard to the purposes for which they are processed, are erased or rectified without delay ('accuracy')
- Principle 5: kept in a form which permits identification of data subjects for no longer than is necessary for the purposes for which the personal data are processed; personal data may be stored for longer periods insofar as the personal data will be processed solely for archiving purposes in the public interest, scientific or historical research purposes or statistical purposes subject to implementation of the appropriate technical and organisational measures required by the GDPR in order to safeguard the rights and freedoms of individuals ('storage limitation')
- Principle 6: processed in a manner that ensures appropriate security of the personal data, including protection against unauthorised or unlawful processing and against accidental loss, destruction or damage, using appropriate technical or organisational measures ('integrity and confidentiality')

Personal data and sensitive personal data must not be used other than for specific purposes. The data subject should always know that their data is being processed and the purpose. This information is provided in our Privacy Policies. When that data is sensitive, for example health information, consent is required before the data can be processed by the Trust.

All data collected from young people under the age of 16 (unless there are concerns about mental capacity in which case this should be extended), is not classed as sensitive personal data but should be treated as sensitive personal data.

A record incorporating personal data can be in computerised and/or manual form. It may include such documentation as:

- Manually stored paper data eg employee records
- Hand written notes
- Letters to and from the Trust
- Electronic records
- Printouts
- Photographs
- Videos and tape recordings

Backup data (ie archived data or disaster recovery records) is also subject to the legislation. A search in backup data should only be conducted if specifically asked for by the data subject.

Rights of Individuals

- The right to be informed
- The right of access
- The right to rectification
- The right to erasure
- The right to restrict processing
- The right to data portability
- The right to object to processing
- Rights in relation to automated decision making and profiling

The Right of Access

The legislation gives every living person (or their authorised representative) the right to apply for access to the personal data which organisations hold about them irrespective of when and how they were compiled, ie hand written records, electronic and annual records held in a structured file, subject to certain exemptions. This is called a Subject Access Request. The legislation treats personal data relating to employees and clients alike.

Retention Periods

We store personal data on secure servers in accordance with the criteria set out in our Data Retention Policy.
